Elephants Piling Timber.

The highly trained male elephant with tusks manage the pushing part of their work very skillfully. The trunk is used as a pad or buffer between the ivory and the wood, and the pushing is done steadily. An average log weighs about a ton and a half. When it has to be pushed into the river, the elephant feels the end of it with his trunk; and having ascertained where he can place his tusks with most advantage, he adjusts the buffer, and starts off, pushing the log steadily before him. Should it happen to be an extra heavy one, he stops occasionally to take breath, and as it slides down the muddy bank toward the water, he gives it a finishing slap, as if to say, "There, you're afloat at last!"

Sometimes the logs are awkwardly jammed up together, so that the ends have to be raised in order to get the dragging chains fastened. This he does by putting his tusks underneath; and passing his trunk over the log to keep it steady, lifts it up the required height. When it is a very heavy lift, he will go down on his knees to get a better purchase. He stacks the timber most skillfully, also, by lifting the end of the log us much as nine or ten feet in this manner, places it on the top of the pile, then goes to the other end and pushes it forward till he gets it quite flush with the rest. In all this he is of course directed by his rider, the mahout, who uses certain words which the elephant has been accustomed to hear, and signs, the meaning of which he knows perfectly. A push of the foot behind the right or left ear makes him answer the rider's wish as a boat answers the rudder, and a nudge behind the neck means "straight ahead."

A highly trained elephant, however, will work among timber by verbal directions as intelligently almost as a collie will among sheep. The finest and best-trained animals are reserved for employment in the saw-mills, where they work among the machinery with sagacity and precision. Strangers have sometimes been so impressed with their admirable qualities in this respect that they have carried away slightly exaggerated impressions on the subject. In one case a spectator was so profoundly overcome by the careful manner in which he saw the elephant laying planks and slabs on traveling benches to be cut, that he gravely reported the circumstance in an Indian newspaper, remarking that the animal shut one eye when it looked along the bench, to make sure the timber was laid on accurately for the saw.

He went home to spend the Christmas recess, and one evening they had a game of that most stupid and harmless of all amusements, parlor croquet. When it came his turn to play, he mechanically reached his hand under the edge of the table and asked where the chalk was. Dark suspicion immediately came out and sat down on the face of the venerable sire, but confidence was restored when he explained that he was thinking of a problem in the calculus, and for the moment forgot that he was not at the blackboard.

It is strange to think that fifty years ago we had no gas, no lucifer matches, no ocean steamers, no railroads, no horse cars, no telegraph, no postage stamps no chloroform, no sewing machines, no photography, no telephone, no phonography, no tomatoes. What may not be expected fifty years hence?

O'Leary's victory almost compensates for the Chicago fire, which was caused by the kick of his mother's cow, which broke the lantern which fired the straw which lay in the barn which the peeler saw which wasn't put out by the strolling lout and burned the town that cheek built.

A Minnesota girl has been serving on a railroad as a brakeman in male attire. She gave a civil answer to the questions of a passenger, when her sex was at once suspected.

"Hug me tight" is the latest article of feminine wardrobe. Painful and shocking as it may be to our nervous system, we will do our entire duty in the premises, ladies.

GOVERNMENT.

Bierce says in the Argonaut that the two extremes of human government are despotism and communism, beyond which is anarchy. Midway lie Bepublican nstitutions—the ap y mean! The best government for men the despotic. The despot is powe- ful o evil, but equally powerful for godd; n the long run he is a trifle more likely to be good an l wise than wicked and foolish. Civilization is largely the work of despotic rulers.

The best government for angels is the commune. The republic is a little too good for men, and not quite good enough for heavenly spirits. It is a half-way house where, in our progress one way or the other, we have "twenty minutes for refreshments." The victuals have a pronounced communistic flavor, but the price is purely despotic." This is only another way of saying that the British government comes nearest to the protection of man from himself, and that America may before long repeat the experiences of France. These predictions are to a great extent made positive and certain by history. The world began with the absolute monarchy limited by assassination. Man fought this institution and invariably, in the flush of success, sprang to the other extreme. There was a long period of alternation between despotism and communism, before man learned to try the experiment of the republic. The king's sceptor could only be broken by the sword of communistic war, and the blood of the commune could only be effaced by the rising sun of regal splendor again enthroned. Men were either abject slaves or riotous noblemen and state craft was either an expression of absolute will or unreasoning violence.

In the republic citizens take up the privileges of noblemen, and yet retain many of the unreasonable customs of the subject. They expect protection, when it lies in themselves. They are at once capable—having privilege—and incapable—lacking responsibility; more active in abuse than in correction, it takes years for them to find that they must protect and reverence the freedom which they believe an inheritance. Especially is this true of our republic, where we open the door each day to foreigners who are by birth and tradition, subjects. We make them citizens, and their acts confess that they have no natural solicitude for our national integrity, but regard that as settled. They live heartily, take in copious draughts of the free air, and never think that every citizen must conspire to maintain its purity. They look upon America as an asylum for the unfortunate, and shirk all responsibility for the institution's maintenance. This has given birth to communism, and unless the door be more securely guarded against foreign invasion during times of peace, the asylum must become an armed fortress in which true Americans must again fight for the experiment of the grand Republic.

"OLD PERPETUAL."

It is whispered again that General Thomas H. Williams will come over here and see what he can do about a seat in the Senate. He has been a candidate since the party was born, and never possessed the sinews of war until now. Some evil-minded person has convinced him that Nevada will never be a happy State unless he perseveres and carries his Democratic wares to the congressional market. His party would no doubt accept him as a candidate because he could cause the Democratic mare to run, with his golden spurs. Mr. Williams has riden so many sack races, however, that force of habit would probably secure his defeat. If we were asked to advise Mr. Williams, we should drop into poetry and say—

"Be it ever so humble,
There's no place like home."

WITH HIS FLOCK.

Harry Mighels, the loving journalistic shepherd of Ormsby's bleating flock, has returned to his mutton. Mr. Mighels, after a severe seige, has passed through painful surgical operations, and returns to take up his crook with strength and will to defend his lambs from the immoral wolf and the political coyote. We execute a blast of welcome with all sincerity.

ADDRESS OF THE REPUBLICAN CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE.

This body has issued an address to the voter of the United States, and after reciting the circumstances under which the Potter resolution was founded and brought before the House as a question of the highest privilege, and for the purpose of unseating President Hayes the Committee goes on to say

Upon this the Republicans commenced the struggle against the revolutionary scheme which, after five days' duration, terminated in the success of conspirators. The Republicans offered the fullest investigation into all the alleged the frauds, by whichever party charged to have been committed, but the Democracy pursued its course shamelessly and relentlessly, and stifled all inquiry into the attempts at bribery in Oregon, South Carolina and Louisiana, and murder and violence in several other States. Neither amendment nor debate was allowed. The inexorable previous question was applied and enforced. This scheme, if pursued, and it is now fully inaugurated, can only have the effect of futher paralyzing business of all kinds, preventing the restoration of confidence which seemed promising, casting a gloom over every household, and bringing our nation into reproach before the civilized world. The peace of the country is the first consideration of patriots. This new effort of the Democracy to inaugurate anarchy and Mexicanize the government by throwing doubts upon the legitimatcy of the title of the President is in keeping with the record of that party, one wing of which rebelled against the government, while the other wing gave them aid and comfort. We call, therefore, upon all who opposed the rebellion of 1861, without distinction of party, to rally to the support of law, order and stable government, and to everwhelm with defeat the reckless agitators who, to gain political power, would add to the presnt distresses of country by shaking the foundation of the government they failed in a four years' war to destroy.

By unanimous order of the committee.

EUGENE HALE, Chairman.
GEORGE C. GORHAM, Secretary.

TAX-PAYERS' MEETING.

A meeting of the tax-paying citizens of Washoe county is hereby called for Friday night next, May 24th, at the court-house, Reno, Nevada. The purpose of the meeting is to make final disposition of the charges made against officers in the grand jury reports. All citizens from every portion of the county should attend, in order that a fair expression of opinion may be had.

The committees of the two grand juries are unanimous in urging the necessity of such meeting, William Duck being the only one who dissents. Good citizens should use their best endeavors to secure a full representation, and a fair discussion of the steps which should be taken. By order of committees, Wm. Duck dissenting.

The Indian Excitement.

Concerning the expected Indian outbreak the Idaho Avalanche has this to say:

Many weeks ago we called the attention of the military authorities to the threatening attitude of the Bannocks, and the possibility of an outbreak, and now there is a horde of these red devils reported to be committing depredations upon the settlers about forty miles from here. The attitude of these Indians demands immediate and earnest attention. Their pillaging conduct, which may possibly lead to much more serious business, shows there is some foundations for the frauds that have been recently reported in connection with the management of that Agency. Government pays for the support of all these Indians at that place. They should be kept there, and not allowed to roam over the country, plundering settlers and creating consternation and alarm among the people. Idaho has had too much of this devastation already, and swindling Indian agencies are mainly the cause of it. The outrageous results of this miserable Indian policy, nurtured at Washington, are a source of perpetual annoyance to our people, doing us gross injustice and adding fresh injuries year after year. It is time that the brutal instincts of the savage were better known and more thoroughly guarded against. The military authorities are grossly derelict in their duties, and, with all the facts connected with these dangers in their possession, they talk about taking away troops, abandoning the military posts of the Territory, and leaving the people to the tender mercies of these red fiends. This whole Indian business is a damnable disgrace, and those who are responsible for it deserve the curses of every man, woman and child in this section of the country.

In the House Saturday, Alexander H. Stephens, of Georgia, asked to be put on record. He said he was absent on Friday when the vote was taken upon the Potter investigation resolution, that he was paired with Harris, and and but for the pair he would have voted against the resolution.

Jottings.

—The ladies of the Baptist church give a strawberry festival to-morrow evening at the church, on Second street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ray, of Boston, who have been spending a couple of weeks in Reno, visiting their relatives, Mr. W. Coffin and family, return to their Eastern home to-night. During their short stay in Reno Mr. and Mrs. Ray have made a great many warm friends, who join in wishing them a safe journey home.

The Effect.

The young man of the Tribune attended the musicale on Friday evening last, and says:

The young misses were on the qui vive on the arrival of the Tribune reporter, knowing full well that it was his custom to criticise each performance, unmindful of the effect.

"On the qui vive on" is pretty effective, surely, and the remaining portion tallies well. The effect, of which this chronicler was "unmindful," resembles the ravings of a base drum artist, when asked for a discourse upon Wagner's triology, or the "linked sweetness long drawn out," which is effected when a reckless mule cks klover a keg of molasses.

UNFORTUNAE FAILURE.—The bottom of the Schiveley furnace has fallen out. The gentlemen interested in this process have shown commendable pluck in testing it, and we regret to chronicle their failure. We trust, however, that they and others will not be discourged because of the failures which many have made in attempting to work ores in this county, but that systematic and intelligent experiments will be continued until these valuable ores shall be cheaply and successfully reduced.

TAX-PAYERS' MEETING.—Elsewhere will be found a call for the tax-payers of Washoe county to meet in Reno on Friday evening next, at the courthouse. We hope that every good citizen will be there and bring his friends. It is time that the matter of these reports be settled, and settlement is not likely through our officers.

ROBINSON CRUSOE.

THE WILD MAN OF PYRAMID.

What He Looks Like—He Feeds Upon Wild Goats, Grasses and Wild Birds' Eggs—The Indian Traditions Concerning Him—"Heap Big Devil."

Some days ago we published an item concerning the wild man who was seen upon the large island in Pyramid lake, and have since made inquiries in regard to him from all parties who were in a position to know the truth of the

of this modern Robinson Crusoe. Pyramid lake is sixty miles in length and about fifteen in width, the large island in question being five miles distant from the nearest point of the mainland. The lake is noted for its treacherous character, the wind frequently lashing the waters into violent commotion in one half hour after a perfect calm prevailed. It will therefore be seen that any one on the island could not possibly reach the land without a boat which was entirely seaworthy. Mr. E. T. Reed, who was our first informant in regard to the

who rules this island kingdom, being anxious to afford us all desired information in regard to the matter, has again visited the island. He attempted to induce several Indians to go with him, hoping to effect a capture of the animal, whatever it might be. They, however, firmly refused, and with fright depicted upon their countenances, showed that they knew of some evil presence and feared it. After repeated questions by Mr. Reed, the following remarkable statement was made by Indian John,

A VENERABLE PIUTE,

who has fished upon the lake shore since Comstock first camped upon the side of old Mt. Davidson. According to John's story, a party of Piute braves while hunting deer early in the spring of '61 or '62 found a in a starving condition somowhere near the head of the lake. They were inclined to put him out of misery, but for some reason took the opposite course and nursed him back to health. They compelled him to remain with them, however, and he made himself very useful, building them a rude boat and mending their guns, adopting their customs as his own. It was the custom of the young braves to visit the island in search of the choice fishing grounds and the wild fowls' eggs there found. One day the stranger took the boat as usual and was never seen again. The boat was found drifting against the shore the next morning. Some of the young braves went to the island in search of the lost one, but were unsuccessful. Shortly thereafter the island was again visited by people of the tribe, when a weird and confronted them, shrieking like a mad man. They fled to their boats, and the spectre sprang over the rocks, up the mountain side and was lost to view. Since that time no Indian will visit the island, and John believes that the Great Spirit, becoming angry, has sent the ghost of the pale-face to haunt the island. "Heap big devil—no good," said John, as

left the shore about 1:30 A. M. to visit the dominion of Robinson Crusoe. The party arrived at the island just as day was breaking, and the first rays of light silvered the tops and sides of the rocky pyramids, making them look like large castles at the water's edge. The party rested upon their oars until the faint light ripened into day, and then started to survey the island. Hardly had they left the boat when one of the party saw an object far up the mountain side which caused him to stop. Pretty soon a noise, as of in the distance was heard, and the distant object was seen to come towards them, leaping from rock to rock, with great rapidity. They all instinctly drew back towards the boat and piling into it pulled hastily away from shore, and upon looking back Mr. Reed affirms that a white haired man with long beard, and goat skins about his feet and waist, stood upon the beach. He shaded his eyes and looked out upon them, after which he uttered three or four unearthly screams, and fled again up the mountain side, stopping at intervals to see if he was pursued. Mr. Reed and party not being used to such beings, went straight to shore, since which time he has tried to get up another party in vain.

A party will shortly start out from Reno to investigate the mystery, it being plain from Mr. Reed's testimony that some fisherman has been cast away on the island, or the Piutes have banished some offender to that spot for life. We await a solution of the mystery.

District Court.

A short session of the District Court was held on Saturday. Attorney I. B. Marshall appeared in behalf of the C. P. R. R. in the case of W. C. Ricard against that company, and asked for ten days additional time in which to file statement on motion for a new trial of that case. Defendant's prayer was granted. The company now have until June 5th in which to present their statement.

In the libel case of Wm. Thompson vs. C. C. Powning, plaintiff's attorneys submitted a motion for a new trial. Statement made without argument and taken under advisement by the Court.

This forenoon Court opened at ten o'clock when plaintiff's attorneys in the case of Jas. Mayberry vs. Jno. Knox moved a dismissal of the case. The motion was granted.

The attorneys in the case of Gilson & Barber vs. W. E. Price, appeared in Court and announced themselves ready for trial. Before noon eleven jurors were obtained, when the venire list was exhausted. A new venire was ordered and made returnable at one o'clock.

The last mentioned case is one of much interest, involving a dispute over a wood contract, in which the plaintiffs claim that the defendant owes them $12,000, whereas the defendant alleges that he owes them no money whatever, but, on the contrary, they owe him $10,000. Astorneys Clarke, Ellis and King appear for the plaintiffs, and Boardman & Varian, Harris and Coffin are the attorneys of the defendant.

Coming to the Front.

Yesterday a party of Renoites, Messrs. Kinkead, Richardson, Barlow and Duck, visited Pyramid and inspected the lower levels of the Jones & Kinkead mine. They report the work of development rapidly going forward and the mine showing up in fine style. A large quantity of ore has been extracted, and every day before is being brought to the surface. A winze is now being run from the 300-foot level to the 350-foot level. The winze is now down eighteen feet, and is in fine ore. A cross-cut is also being made from the 350-foot level to connect with the above winze. The company have leased the English mill, which they will set in operation on the 15th of next month. In the meantime 500 to 1,000 tons of ore will be hauled to this mill so as to have a full supply on hand by the time they are ready for the reduction of this ore.

Workingmens' Meeting.

The Workingmen on Saturday night had another largely attended meeting. Several speeches were made, but no definite action was taken in reference to the ditch contract. To-morrow the committees appointed meet with the Trustees of the Truckee and Steamboat Canal Company, when information leading to final action in the premises will be obtained. White men, familiar with the plans and specifications, assert that those who have taken the contract will lose money by the operation, as they allege the ditch cannot be dug for $36,000. We trust that this matter may be amicably adjusted and no rash act be committed by any party or parties. We are satisfied that the Trustees have committed an error in allowing Chinese to bid. If we Americans mean to get rid of the Chinese, we should not give them every encouragement to stay in this country.

AND FOR WHAT REASON.—The Union Square company, which appears here Wednesday evening next, have decided to make no extra charge in Carson for reserved seats. The decision was commended by the press, but we have not noticed that the determination extends to Reno. We have a large circulating medium in Reno, but we dislike this idea of paying $1 50 for what is worth, it seems, only $1.

JUST THE THING.—A neatly dressed man can take some comfort with himself and at the same time be favorably regarded by his friends. It is true economy to buy good clothing, and of a style in conformity with the prevailing patterns. The next question is, where shall one get, during thes hard times, a good article of underwear, business or dress suit, which gives satisfaction in price and quality of goods? Messrs. Cohen & Isacs, at the Branch White House, on Commercial Row, next door to the postoffice, is your place, gentlemen. They have all the latest styles of men's and boy's clothing, and at all prices and sizes. Their stock is both large and complete. A man can go into their store and get a full outfit, hat, suit of outer and underwear, and boots or shoes as he may prefer. These gentlemen have just received a full stock of spring and summer clothing, and defy competition in their selling prices, as well as in the quality of goods which they sell. 4-28 tf.

The regular monthly revolution in Mexico is reported this time from the vicinity of the Rio Grande.

The Democrats of Ohio say that they have the State all to themselves; the Republicans having been appointed to office.

An Ohio man ate fifty raw eggs in fifty minutes. Ohio may yet produce a man of sufficient capacity to make a good President.

A good many Circassian girls who traveled with last year's circusses are this year doing kitchen work for three dollars a week.

If the Moffet bell punch don't lie, the 75,000 residents of Richmond, Virginia, drink 4,000,000 toddies in the year, which is only fifty-three per capita, with twenty-five over, which fall to the share of the early risers. It must be borne in mind that there are probably some women and children in that 75,000 who don't drink at all, and some, who are not women or children who drink at home where no bell-punch rings its warning.

Ohio State Journal: "Kearney, the California agitator, is a mountain in the way of emigration to the golden shore. The emigration societies which have been so industrious in populating the coast during a few years past may as well suspend business till Kearney gets through; and when he has finished possibly no inducements to emigration will be left."

"The sentence of the court is," said Judge Porter, a popular Irish magistrate, to a notorious drunkard, "that you be confined in jail for the longest period the law allows; and I hope you will spend your time in cursing whisky," "I will, sir, and porter, too."

Established in 1854,
For the Permanent Cure of all Special and Chronic Diseases, as also all Female Complaints and Diseases of the Nervous System.

THE IMMENSE DESTRUCTION OF human life annually from secret and chronic diseases, caused this old and reliable institution to be established, first in Philadelphia, Penn., in 1850, and afterwards in San Francisco, Cal., in 1854, as a private dispensary, in order to afford the afflicted the best medical and surgical treatment, for the above and all other affections and complaints. Consultation at the Institute, or by letter, FREE

To the Afflicted:

Dr. L. J. Czapkay would most respectfully inform the public of the Pacific coast that, at the earnest solicitation of his numerous friends, and hundreds of those unfortunately afflicted with disease, he has reopened his MEDICAL AND SURGICAL INSTITUTE and resumed the practice of his profession. The Doctor would remind all those who are in need of medical aid, that since relinquishing his very extensive and successful practice in San Francisco, he has visited the principal cities in Europe, inspecting diligently the experience of the most learned in the profession, the benefit from which he offers to all in need of his services. Rheumatic affections, chronic catarrh, diseases of the stomach and kidneys, liver complaints, etc., successfully treated. Those who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, physical and mental debility, are assured of a permanent cure. Charges moderate. All communication strictly confidential. Medicines sent by express. Address,
